

About me

Creating websites and applications has been my passion since the early age of 15. I felt the need to better understand the world around me in a humanistic sense, so I studied for a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology and Humanities. Nevertheless, I quickly gravitated towards web development creating multiple websites, e-commerce platforms, and web applications for over 10 years, particularly within the hospitality industry. I enjoy my great hobby, which fortunately is also my profession.
